

CAMP NAWIC

The National Association of Women in Construction (NAWIC) Columbus Chapter #86 will host their second annual Camp NAWIC on

Wednesday, June 19, 2019
8:30am – 3:00pm

Camp NAWIC is a unique summer camp for female middle school students.

The purpose of the camp is to give young females a fresh outlook on how fun and exciting construction can be for women.

Local contractors will work side-by-side with the students throughout the day's activities. They will be there to answer any questions about the rewarding career opportunities available to females interested in construction.

NAWIC's core purpose is to enhance the success of women in the construction industry. We believe that should start with our daughters, nieces, and cousins. We hope this camp can help make a difference.

The most common job for a woman today is the same as it was 50 years ago: secretary. Defying the odds of a desk job and picking up power tools instead, women in trades are daring the rest of us to confront stereotypes that are still holding women back.

WOMEN IN CONSTRUCTION

"As a woman that has been in construction for 27 years, having worked my way up from a laborers' helper to superintendent, I understand the struggles women go through. They need to know that this is an industry that benefits from women. They need to know to stand their ground and show their ability. And they need to know that they can achieve a fulfilling career in construction." - Pat Anderson

"The younger generation needs to see for themselves that it is possible to do/make anything you want. To the little tomboys out there who have no idea what they want to be when they grow up, they need to see that it is possible to climb that new building the way they climb trees, and that it is not only okay to do those kinds of things, but it is possible to be one of those people who builds those structures." – Cyaltsa Finkbonner

REGISTER FOR CAMP NAWIC

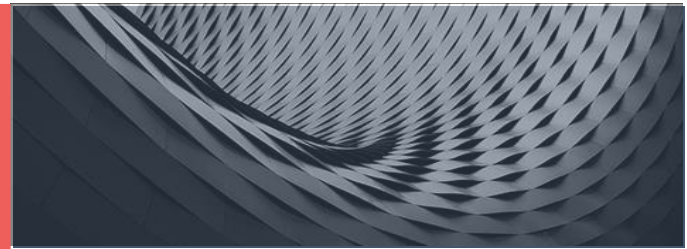

This year's camp includes learning how to read construction drawings, building and wiring a lamp, using power tools to break up concrete, seeing how concrete is made and distributed, touring an active construction site, and working together in teams to build a bridge in a competitive and fun environment.

READY TO BUILD?

In an industry that is over 97% male-dominated, women in blue-collar construction trades are breaking ground, building the future, and changing the face of construction. There is a fight to redefine the labor movement and overcome the most enduring barriers to occupational freedom for women.

Camp NAWIC introduces middle school girls to women role models who have achieved success in all areas of construction. From tradeswomen to engineers, architects to accountants, project superintendents, supervisors and business owners to clerical support, the girls learn there is room in the construction industry for their dreams too.
